

Computer Science AP

GUI Cheat Sheet

Converting int to String	<code>String s = Integer.toString(num)</code>
Converting String to int	<code>int x = Integer.parseInt(somestring)</code>
Read String from textbox	<code>String stuff = textboxName.getText()</code>
Read int from textbox	<code>int x = Integer.parseInt(textboxNum.getText())</code>
Put a String into textbox	<code>textboxName.setText(somestring)</code>
Put int into textbox	<code>textboxName.setText(Integer.toString(num))</code> or <code>textboxName.setText("" + num)</code> enable a component	<code>buttonGo.setEnabled(true)</code> or false hide a component	<code>buttonGo.setVisible(false)</code> or true listbox: clearing	<code>listbox.removeAll()</code>
listbox: add item	<code>listbox.add(somestring)</code>
listbox: remove item	<code>listbox.remove(someindexposition)</code> listbox: which is selected	<code>int pos = listbox.getSelectedIndex()</code> -1 is sent back when nothing is selected listbox: what is selected	<code>String s = listbox.getSelectedItem()</code> listbox: manually select item	<code>listbox.select(someindexnumber)</code> option box that shows the user a message (requires <code>import javax.swing.JOptionPane;</code>) <code>JOptionPane.showMessageDialog(null, "info", "info box: ", JOptionPane.INFORMATION_MESSAGE);</code> option box that asks use to make decision (requires <code>import javax.swing.JOptionPane;</code>) <code>int response = JOptionPane.showConfirmDialog(null, "really do it?", "title", JOptionPane.YES_NO_OPTION);</code> <code>if (response == JOptionPane.YES_OPTION){</code> <code> //they said yes, so do it!</code> <code>}</code> <code>else if (response == JOptionPane.No_OPTION) {</code> <code> //they said no, get out of here!</code> <code> return;</code> <code>}</code>	